Biography: Professor Carys J. Craig (LL.B.(Hons), LL.M., S.J.D.)

Dr. Carys Craig is an Associate Professor at Osgoode Hall Law School of York University, in Toronto, Canada. She recently completed an extended term as Associate Dean (Research & Institutional Relations), and currently serves as the Academic Director of the Professional LLM Program in Intellectual Property Law. A recipient of multiple teaching awards, including the President's University-Wide Teaching Award, Dr. Craig teaches and publishes in the areas of copyright, trademarks, law and technology, feminist and legal theory. She is the author of Copyright, Communication & Culture: Towards a Relational Theory of Copyright Law (2011). Her recent publications include "Critical Copyright Law and the Politics of IP", in Christodoulis, Dukes & Goldini, Research Handbook on Critical Legal Theory (2019), and "The Jus of Use: Trademarks in Transition" with Bita Amani, 30(2) IPJ 217 (2018). Dr. Craig is frequently invited to share her work with academic audiences, professional organizations and policy-makers, while her publications are regularly cited in legal argument and judicial opinions, including by the Supreme Court of Canada. In 2017, she received the Outstanding Service Award from the Institute of International Education.

Dr. Craig holds an LL.B. (First Class Honours) from the University of Edinburgh in Scotland, an LL.M. from Queen's University in Ontario, and an S.J.D. from the University of Toronto.

Link to full bio and scholarship: https://www.osgoode.yorku.ca/faculty-and-staff/craig-carys-j/